

Growtec Nest Boxes

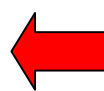

The Growtec nest box has been designed to provide the best environment for does to have their kittens. The nest box is fully enclosed which the does like and it also keeps the kittens warmer. Growtec insert a plastic tray in the bottom of the nest box, which aids in its cleaning and its curved shape keeps kittens together in the middle of the box. There is also a guard around the opening to prevent the rabbits chewing on the box.

Key Benefits

- Easy to clean
- Fully enclosed to keep kittens warm
- Guards to prevent chewing
- Lightweight construction
- More kittens weaned at heavier weights
- Less kittens born on the wire
- Cavity for extra insulation

Why Buy a GROWTEC Nest Box?

To provide the kittens with this type of environment

With the lid closed there is no comparison to drench drums of wooden nest boxes.

- You only need to wean an additional 5 kittens from each nest box and it would have already paid for itself (This only equates to half a litter not being born on the wire!)
- Growtec have been using some of these nest boxes for over four years now. As they are rotated between does we estimate that they have been used for approximately 50 litters and still going strong.

Higher Weaning Weights

With the best nest, extra insulation and reduced exposure the kittens grow faster, resulting in higher weaning weights.

Even more importantly on average the does wean more kittens using these nest boxes because of the higher survival rates.

An additional benefit is that the greater weaning weights result in significantly higher post-weaning growth rates and therefore earlier turn off for those rabbits.

An Example of the Benefits

On average 1 extra kitten weaned per litter at 7 litters per year. Each nest box lasts 3 years. From our experience each nest box can be used for 1.5 does. This equates to 31.5 litters per nest box at (10.5 litters per year). Therefore for your $30 nest box can have returned you an additional $300 in extra sales (this does not include the additional benefits obtained from the higher post-weaning gains).

Price

Each nest box costs $27.50 (Inc GST)

The boxes are flat packed which makes delivery cheaper.

Plastic inserts are easily made.
